point, is all of the plates from which was printed the $50,000 book. "The Road of a Thousand Wonders." . The first edition only of the book had been printed and the supply was about exhausted when the earthquake occurred. The plates for the pictures were in the custody of a famous photographic and printing establishment in San Francisco, the firm that made the book. The peculiarly clear atmosphere of California allows the taking of better pictures than is possible in the east, and for this reason the views in the "Thousand Wonders" book are distinct and different from all others. A Chicago printing company asks $10,000 to reproduce the plates from pictures in the book for the quick printing of another edition.

Mr. Bidwell had nothing to say regarding reports that his road will construct other lines in the state in the near future. It is believed, however, that the Casper-Lander line will not stop at Lander, but will, another year, be extended westward through the Teton mountain range, down Snake river and on into Idaho and Utah.

TRAMP GETS 23 TAG.

Man Who Rides the Bumpers.

The western railroads have deter mined to prohibit the nomadic Weary Willie from riding on their trains. Steps are being taken toward perfecting a plan of warfare against the man who rides but does not purchase transporta-tion. The railroad companies have been their contents.
